

Kids Reading Across Rhode Island Transportation Support

KIDS Reading Across Rhode Island, Rhode Island's One Book, One State community read program for kids, is kicking off its 6th year! This program, offered in partnership with the Rhode Island Center for the Book at the Rhode Island Council for the Humanities, encourages students across the state in grades 3 through 6 to read the same book, and engage in community discussions and programs. This application invites schools or youth organizations to apply for funds to arrange a bus for students in grades 3 through 6 to attend the program at the state house on Saturday, May 9th, 2:00 - 4:00 P.M.

Who can apply? Schools and official youth organizations that are partnered with their local library are invited to apply. Special consideration will be given to schools and organizations from municipalities that show a higher level of financial need.

Please send all grant enquires to Danielle.Margarida@olis.ri.gov

Please provide the following information to be considered for this support. Please note that the program is two hours long and the bus company will require payment from the time the bus leaves their bus yard until it returns to the bus yard. This funding only covers the cost of the bus. It is required that students be supervised at all times by the organization or school that applies for support.
